Harold Poore

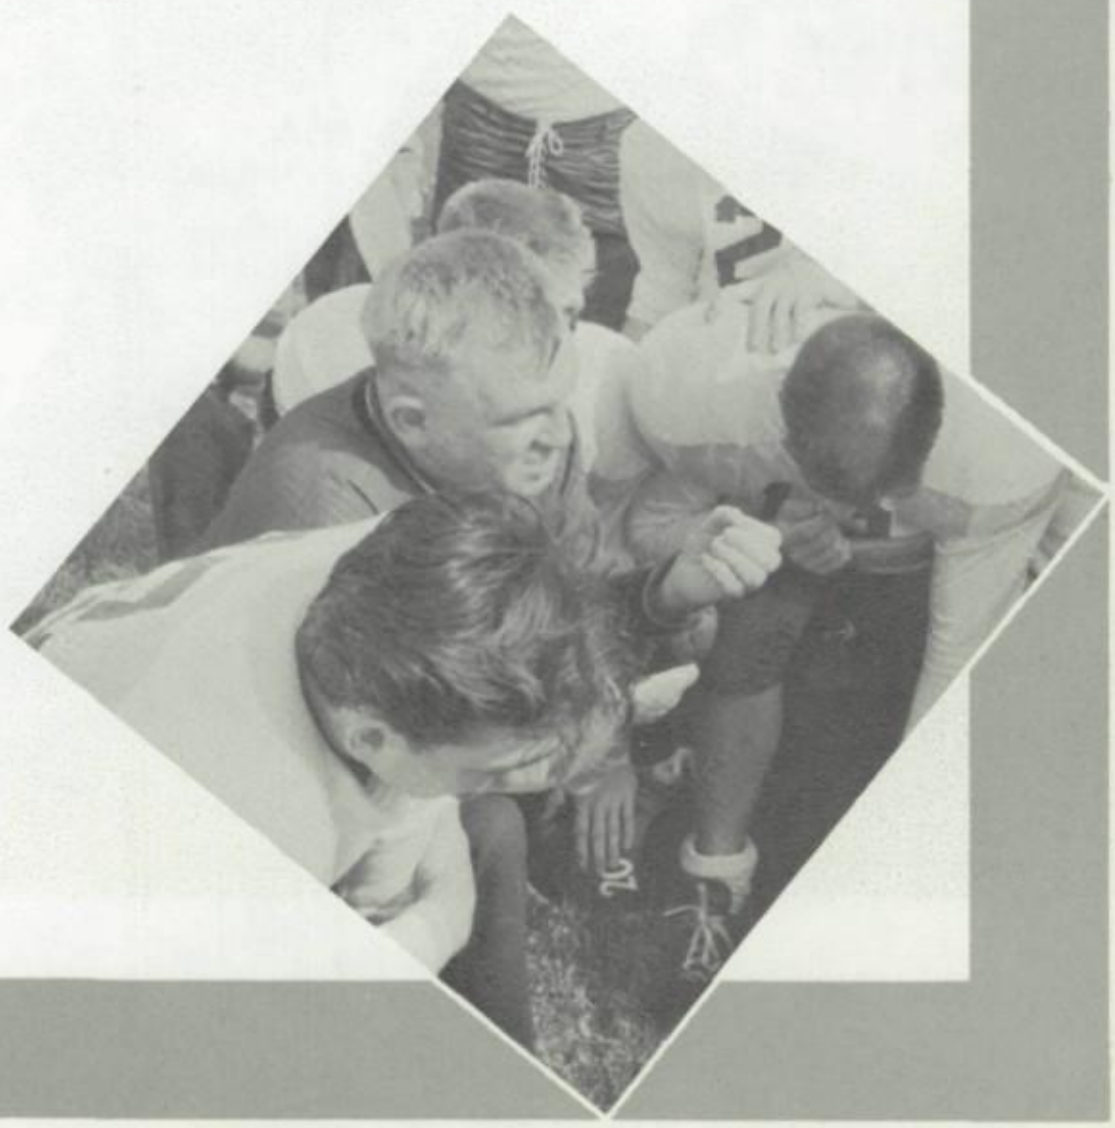
Dedication

We, the members of the Class of 1961 do hereby dedicate and submit this edition of THE PEN-SEMAN to our friend and confidant of many years' standing, Mr. Harold Poore. "Coach," as he is known to all of us, has been the main force in the school athletic program since 1927, and in that time has produced many outstanding teams in all of the sports in which the school participates. During his years on the faculty, Mr. Poore has won the respect of teachers and students alike for his quick wit and fierce determination. Through his intolerance of habits detrimental to health and his fine sense of sportsmanship, he has set an example of manhood which any of us would be proud to emulate during our lives.

Although the efforts of his teams on the athletic fields have suffered during the last few years, because of the reconstruction of the academic standing of the school, it is obvious that the Redmen are once again on their way to the domination of the sports scene which they enjoyed during the years of the fabled "Pen-Sem" teams. If this year's record is any indication of the years to come, his efforts and frustrations will have reason behind them.

Though he is not noted for his eloquent oratory, Mr. Poore has possibly said more in his straightforward way than have others who employ more flowery modes of speech. In his talks at our pep rallies, through his fine sense of humor and personal desire to win, he has instilled more spirit in us than have all of the fiery and stinging tirades we have heard only too often in the past year.

We thank you, "Coach," for all you have done for us and our Alma Mater, and we wish you many more years of success. "On to victory."



Dr. Smyth

Some few months before his death, it was my privilege to have an interview with the great American industrialist, Eugene G. Grace of the class of 1894. After making a name at Pennington, he attended Lehigh University and spent most of his active business life with The Bethlehem Steel Company serving as president and chairman of the board. During our chat Mr. Grace recalled with vivid clearness his school chums, his teachers, and his school days at Pennington. He was grateful for all that life on the campus meant to him.

For most of the youth who have gone out from Pennington's halls, these acres seem to have been holy ground. Life must move through many experiences with the passing years, but few equal and none surpass the precious hours on Heritage Field, Shaw Memorial Chapel, the class rooms and the ancient dormitory halls.

To all who go forth now, we extend our highest hopes for a rich and full life. And like Eugene Grace of the class of '94, may the successes of life serve to prove the value of your Pennington days.

Bishop Corson

The class of 1961 is proud to give recognition to Bishop Fred Pierce Corson through the honorary dedication of this yearbook to our esteemed leader.

Bishop Corson is a native of Millville, N.J. He was graduated from Dickinson with Phi Beta Kappa honors and upon his graduation from Drew University was the first recipient of the John Heiston Willey award for pulput excellence. Following his theological training, he was ordained a Methodist minister, and served churches in New York and Connecticut.

In 1934 he was elected to the presidency of Dickinson College, where he served until his election to the episcopacy in 1944. He has given all of his episcopal service in the Philadelphia area. In all he has received degrees from 23 colleges, universities and professional schools.

He was elected president designate of the World Methodist Council of Churches which makes him the titular head of some seventy million Methodists.

We especially salute Bishop Corson for his great leadership at Pennington. Through him three quarters of a million dollars have been raised for Pennington's expansion. He is currently leading a great crusade to make possible additional buildings on the campus.

We are honored that Bishop Corson is our Commencement speaker.

Class Officers

After "living" an insitution as we have lived Pennington during the past year, it is difficult to make an objective analysis of what we have gained. In the final year of any high school, experience is the cornerstone: intellectual, social, and emotional experience.

We have gained an invaluable philosophy through our contact with faculty and fellow students; a philosophy which we ourselves may not recognize or appreciate for several years or perhaps never realize at all.

It is with mixed feelings that we leave the buildings that have been our home for so long. We leave with an eye to the future, and the success and adventure which it holds for us; and we leave with an eye to the past and the memories and friends which we will carry with us for the rest of our lives.

It is the custom for the graduating class to leave a legacy, a eulogy that will express our hopes in the lower classmen, our gratitude to the faculty, and our farewell to our friends.

We leave to our friends in the lower classes the wish that they might enjoy the same happiness which we have had, and the aspiration that their ambitions will carry them far.

To the faculty, we leave our deepest thanks for the mental and moral help which they have given us over the past years, and the assurance that we will use our experience to the best of our abilities.

And to the school itself, we leave the confidence that it will always live up to its motto, "Only the Excellent."

STEVEN BEIZER

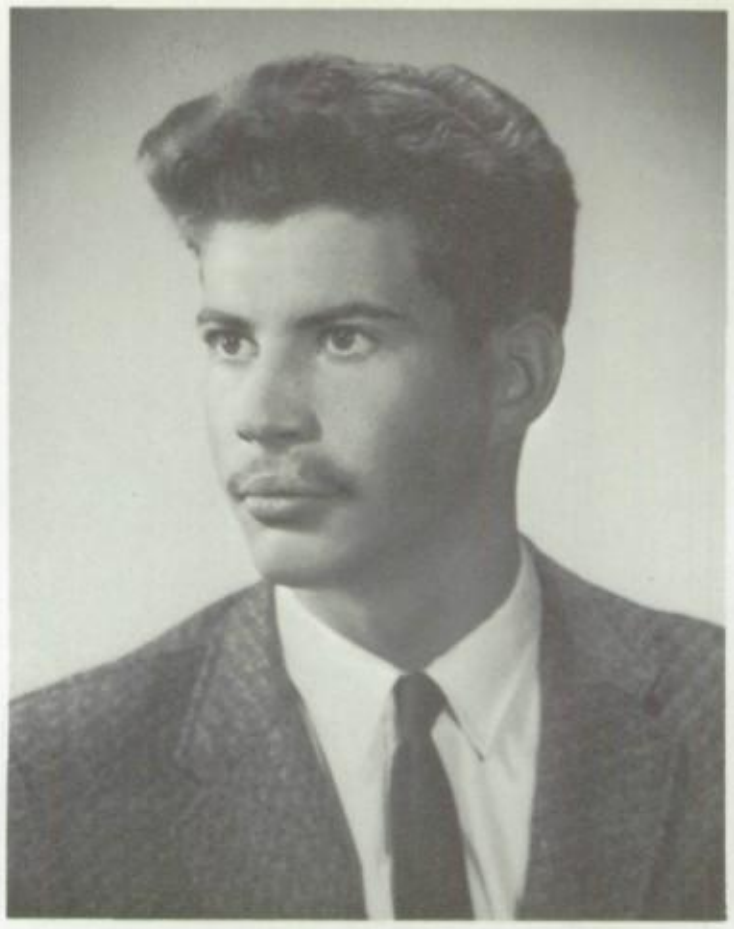
In his one and only year at Pennington, Steve has divided his study time evenly between his room and Jim Kranz's. (Or is it Denny he's "interested" in?) It was unfortunate that a football injury caused Steve to miss the first few weeks of school. His absence was noted by all the students. (We think.) It is interesting to note that he is an almost perfect scale model of Mr. Hausmann, but he's too nice a boy to ever think of hitting anyone.

HARRY BONACCI

Harry has been trying to attend Pennington for three years and has become well known to students and faculty alike as he plodded from class to class. Mr. Kersey and Mr. Hausmann will miss Harry, as will his fellow students. In school and out, Harry lives basketball, but will have to move it to second place when he flows into the Navy blues. Good luck and good-bye, Harry.

JOHN PETER BOCH

John's problem has not been so much where to go, but how to get there. During his stay at Pennington, he has traveled by bicycle, car, El Camino, bus, train, and airplane. In one sense of the word, he is a well traveled person. We have yet to find out if he is well-read or well-studied. Since John is from Ohio, it might be pertinent to note that a buckeye is defined as a "worthless nut".



RICHARD DOREMUS BOND, JR.

Well, brother Bond, you've studied hard.
Not history, but Kierkegard.
Of Mr. Kersey, you know but little,
But you're quite a friend of dear E. Biddle.
We remembered you moustachioed,
And sometimes even smashioed.
The future for you looks bright, dear Dee,
In your chosen field of Philosophy.
We wish you luck with your Diane.
We know she thinks you're quite the man.
Don't carry this thing too far now, Dad,
For you'll find that some folks might get mad.

HOWARD BOYER

"Kingipoo" has quite a hard kick, as he proved last year by personally demolishing a good part of the wall on Ledden Hall. King is an "unusual" boy who can be found in bed more often than not. (Just ask Ricords.) We all know how well he likes to talk on the telephone, but unfortunately, so does the Bell Telephone Company.

We foresee an "interesting" future for King, if Hunter lets him live long enough to have a future. Swarthmore College will be enhanced by his presence (Or, perhaps, absence) during the next four years.

JAMES BOYD

Jim has taken Pennington by storm in his first year at school. (We mean the town, not the school.) This can be attested by any of a number of the girls he has "met". If only the conscientiousness he has shown so well on the soccer field had carried over into the dining room, the headwaiter and he might have become better friends, for there is certainly nothing lacking in his personality. (We won't say anything about his mind here.) One thing he has achieved while at Pennington is the ability to read in the dark. Now all he has to learn is how to drink "coke". (Although we will admit that he does have a head start on most college freshmen.)

JEROLD BURCH

Jerry is a true Ivyleaguer from the button on the back of his shirt to the soiled tips of his white bucks. One can almost immediately tell that he must have gone to a military school before coming to Pennington. As soon as one sees him one thinks of a "fashionable" Valentino for the poor people. All kidding aside, Jerry has done much in his year here. Other than studying much--and we mean much--he has been a valuable asset to our jazz combo.

GEORGE CAWMAN

Having been enrolled here for two years, "Pinhead" has become more than just a student. When anyone feels in the mood for a good joke (i.e., George), he can always count on the autocrat of Corson Hall. Along with being an above average student, he has helped the Redmen in many victorious efforts. He can catch his own fumbles better than anyone else. We are sure that he will succeed in college, eventually.

MICHAEL CHAPIN

When "Howdy Doody" last appeared on NBC in the fall of 1958, Mike arrived at Pennington with a grey MG, one mother, and a carbon copy of his Thanksgiving correspondence, he was warmly received by Dr. Smyth. Mike has been able to divide his time fairly regularly between "Rebel rousing" and "billiards" with Mr. Kersey. The latest word around the campus is that he plans to change his name to Hilton and enter hotel management.

WILLIAM CLEMENTS

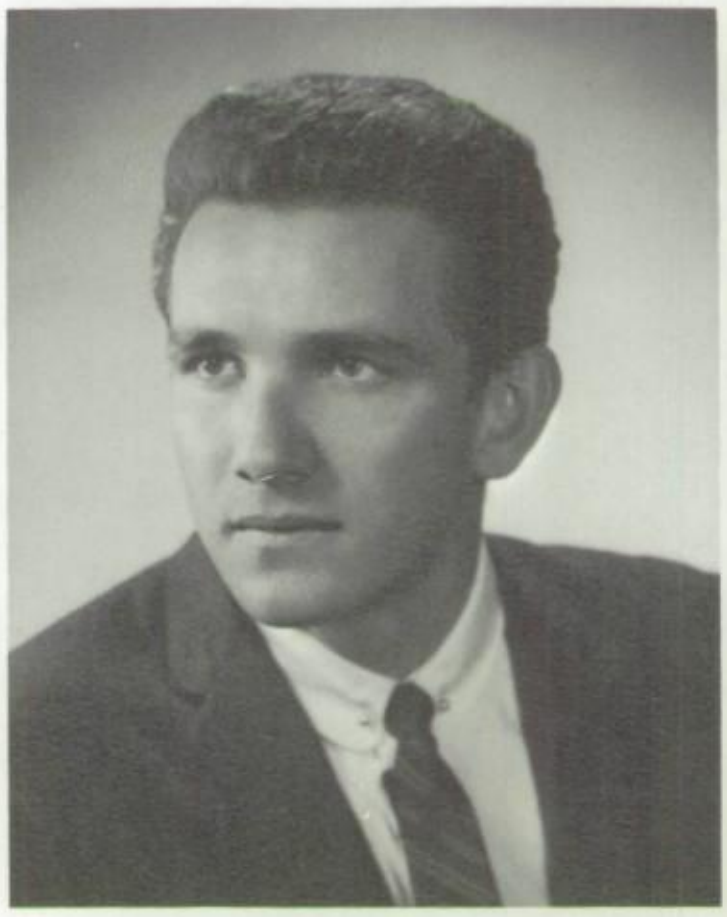
Denny, who had his first taste of our beloved alma mata during summer school, brushes his teeth every night. A truly immaculate boy in all respects, he has worked himself well into the scheme of things here. A good worker in more ways than one, he has participated in a great many of the school activities. Hope that he is able to get late lights in college as often as he has had them here. Good luck at Bates.

RONALD CROWE

Wine, women, and song come second (?) nature to Ron. He has been one of the top football players this year, giving his best efforts when they were most needed. Football is not all he can do, for Ron has won the Declamation Contest two years in succession. He eventually plans to enter the Navy; the famous ram couldn't do much better. But Ron, please don't get seasick!

LEONARDO D'ARAGO

Leonardo, a rather quiet boy, who comes to us from Caracas, Venezuela, has made his home away from home on Lindberg Hall, a rather poor substitute. A personality that wins all, he has made many friends here. We hope that he will have all the luck in the world in all he undertakes for if he continues to put shaving cream in people's beds, he will need it.



PAUL DeFRANCO

In his second year at Pennington, Paul has been one of the mainstays of our gridiron force. In fact, he was the high scorer of the team this year, having worked hand in hand with our quarterback, Dave Duthie. Whenever those two get together, "look out". Aside from being such a great football player, he has done exceedingly well academically. In the future, which looks bright for him, Paul hopes to go to medical school. It is a long and difficult road, but we are sure he will succeed.

J. HUNTER DOWNS

A student whose name is a familiar sight on the Honor Roll, Hunter has indulged in a number of school activities, not all of the kind to be publicized. He doesn't get caught like the rest of us. Actually, Hunter is a great all-around boy who will be missed by many students and teachers alike. All hope he will do as well both in football and in studies in the college of his choice. We understand that he intends to become a surgeon. Hope we can count on you for a discount, "Racetrack".

WAYNE THOMAS DOUGLASS

Although Wayne is seen most often behind the bookstore counters, he would much prefer to be outside, as his hallmaster may or may not know. Known for his witty criticisms of all, he has more than succeeded at school. Being procter of dear old Fifth Avenue together with Bill Moody, Wayne has let all know where he stands. On Ledden! You have to pass English IV somehow.

WILLIAM DAVID DUTHIE

Until this year Dave has been commuting to school from Ewing, N.J., but he thought it might be well for him to come under the wings of Uncle Ernie. Dave, as one of the proctors of Ledden Hall, has been involved in as many activities as one can without hurting his grades. He served as one of our co-captains on the football squad and he was Pres. of the Student Council, an admirable record. Although he has no specific plans for the future other than going to college, we are sure he will be more than successful, especially as far as the opposite sex is concerned.

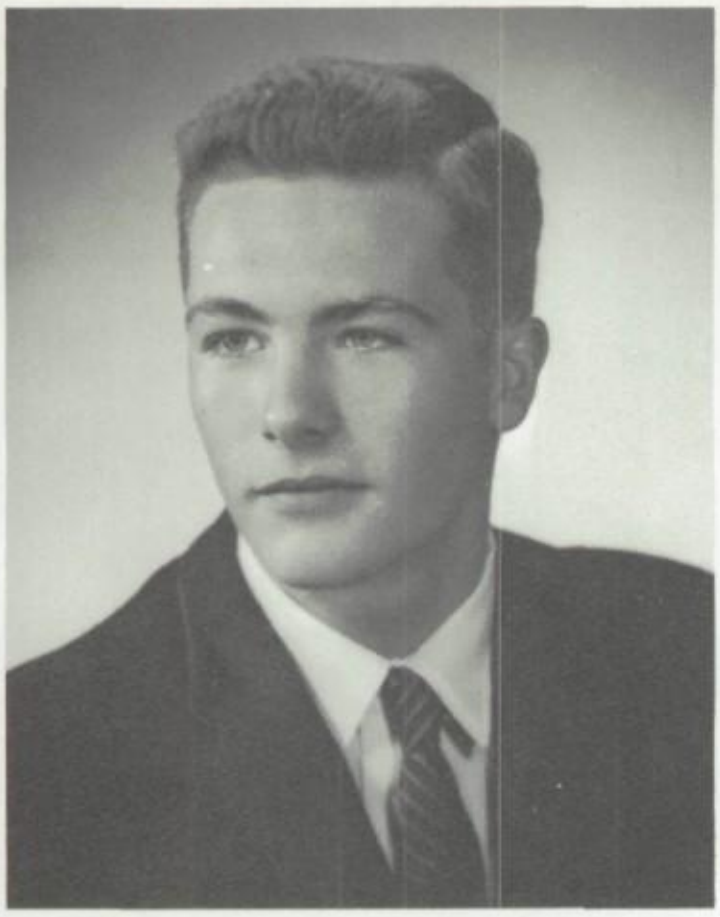
STEVEN GAYLON

Another of the novitiates at Pennington, Steve has been identified among the "intellects" on campus. The only difference is that he studies regularly. Steve, who joined us from Lower Merion High School, was unhappy to find that Lake Lowellden was somehow unsuitable for crew, his favorite sport. Steve is a remarkable lad, but we still think he forged his birth certificate.

DENNIS ENGLE

As one of the dayhops, Denny has distinguished himself as the boy who leaves last each day. He can invariably be seen in town until 5:30 or later. What's the big attraction? It surely isn't your studies.

Truthfully, Denny is a quiet, studious boy who has made friends while with us. We know that his abilities will carry him far.



RONALD GREENING

Now in his sixth year at our Alma Mater, Ron has become almost as much a part of the school as the walls. (He does about as much, too.) His chief interest is politics, a precarious vocation in these times. When Ron graduates from college, we are sure he will be a great asset to our government, if we have one then. We hope that Ron will get all the sleep he needs this year, for, like all of us, there are rough years ahead for him.

ROBERT HARRIS

We look back with fond memories upon Bob's Saturday night taxi service. Those evenings in Princeton were "smashing" successes, or so we hear from Dean Brown. As a member of the swimming team, Bob established a fine reputation as a soccer player. We are sure that Coach would have a few remarks to make about Bob's abilities as manager of the football and basketball teams, but, since this is a carefully edited book we must forego that pleasure. We feel sure that he will. make a fine record wherever he is accepted.

ALAN DAVID HOFFBERGER

Al, the drummer boy from Baltimore has done more to establish a good "Town-and-Gown" relationship than has anyone else in the class. In fact he has had to make up for our mistakes more than once over the past two years. Everyone in his class respects Al for his wit and spirit, which will assure him success in life and college.

D. RANDOLPH HOLT

Randy, the "Big Man on Campus", has established an awesome reputation on the football field, and an "awful" reputation in the classrooms of Pennington. "Mangler", as he is affectionately (?) known to us, is a coach's dream (Or nightmare, depending on which coach is concerned) for his rough, all-out play on the field. We are sure that any college will greet Randy warmly at its gates. (Whether front or back, we will not say.) One question remains, will he make it?

LAWRENCE KRANTZ

"T.Z.", with his "cool" pants and hot temper, took Pennington to the cleaners during his vacation here. We are quite sure that our Alma Mater would not have been the same without the boy. (It probably would have been better.) Confusion reigned supreme until the "T.Z." classification was devised. We wonder how many times one of the two got away with something at the expense of the other. (See below-----somewhere.)

JAMES KRANZ

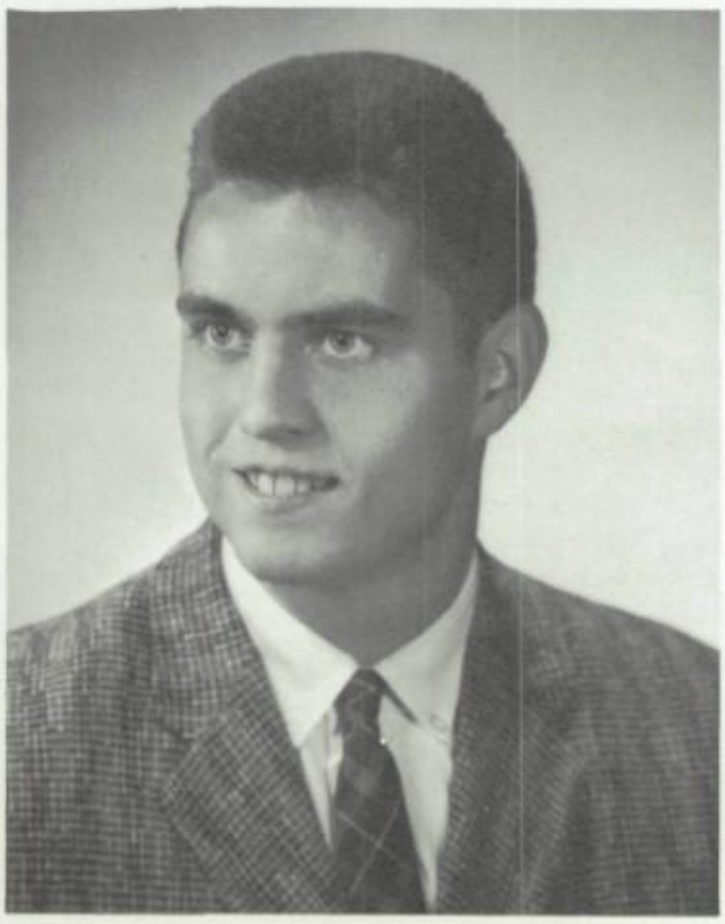
See what we mean? Confusing, isn't it? The main problem was that both were constantly getting in the hair of the faculty and administration, so it was a real task deciding who got the demerits. Jim is an assistant "god" this year. (Proctor, in other words) With Eliot Terborgh, he managed to make life miserable for the boys on Goorley this year. But his room mate and his odd sports made up for it. Jim, we are sure, will at least have fun at the University of Delaware, if nothing else.

ERNEST LAMONT

Ernie is well-named, for he is without a doubt the most earnest boy on campus. He will always be ready and glad to go out of his way to help the other students. His studies show his earnestness, for we have known him to study alone in an empty classroom long after classes were over. The thing which makes this worth noting is that Ern is a day student! We hope that his efforts have not been taken for granted, and that he has not been completely fruitless in his efforts to establish his background for college. If his success depends on his radiant personality, he will have no trouble.

EVERETT MAGUIRE

Well, "Mother", you made it. (Don't ask us how.) This year on Green Hall has been an "interesting" one for Everett. He has always been more than willing to listen to the problems of his "children", and soothe them with his sage(brush) advice. Everett is a careful, thorough student who will be a definite asset to any college he attends.



RICHARD LARNER

Rich came to Pennington, we think. He is seen only in two places: the soccer field and the dining hall. As far as we know, the rest of his time is spent in bed. Seriously, Rich was a driving force on this year's soccer squad. We wish him luck for the wide field of his future.

MAC BURNS MARTIN

During his two years at Pennington, Mac has become one of our most valuable assets. Mac wields a very angry but brilliant pen, and has become famous or infamous, for some of his "avant-garde" efforts. A public spirited man, he was head waiter during his Senior year, and also through his efforts, it is that the year book is possible. Our Floridian comrade will assault Ohio Weslyan, and we are sure will make a success of his teaching career.

JOHN A. MELLEN

This is the second year that John has been coming to Pennington from Westfield, New Jersey. We have no idea, nor do we wish any, as to where he came from before that. Four-fifths of his time is devoted to cars, and the other fifth is in school-------- somewhere. After his commencement, he intends to attend Carnegie Tech., where he will major in Architecture. We are sure that his excellent mind will give him the success he deserves.

SAMUEL MATHER

At the close of "Nittie's" third year at Pennington, he can look back upon a successful, well-rounded stay here. He has been a chief factor in Pennington's soccer, basketball and baseball efforts. His unrelenting spirit and determination have been manifest in his studies also. Sam has achieved a fine record at Pennington, and he can be proud of it. If he fares as well in his other endeavors as he has as co-editor of this yearbook, we are sure that there will be no obstacles he will be unable to surmount.

WILLIAM MOODY

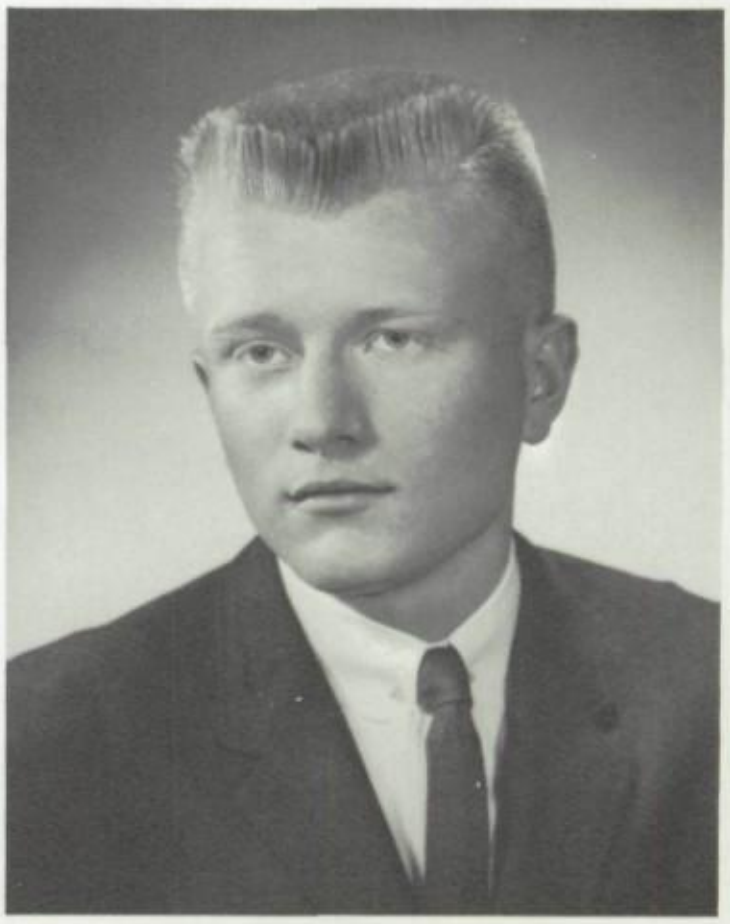
He is the first "farmer" to come to Pennington from New York City. His main sport is swimming, in which he participated for two years. As for his future "Bill" is hoping to become an engineer. The only difficulty he has is in pronouncing the name Saudi Arabia.

ROBERT OLSON

Bob, who is in his second year at Pennington, comes from Amityville, Long Island. "Ollie," a quiet boy, usually finds his room on Green Hall the direct opposite. Bob would like to attend Lycoming College in Williamsport, Pa. He hopes to attend a creative field. Bob's aim in scholastic life here, is to understand Mr. Heg's class procedure.

DAVID MOORE

As a new student this year, Dave has made an impressive record during his days here. He is a conscientious student, and should be successful in any endeavor he undertakes. If his work in Mr. Heg's English class is any indication of his abilities, he is sure to succeed in college and in life!



EDUARDO OXFORD

As one of the ambassadors from our southern neighbor, Puerto Rico, Eduardo has shown many enviable qualities in his work here. He has excelled on the soccer field, and for his efforts, he was named co-captain of this year's team. Eduardo, who plays a wild guitar, has left many memories of his jam sessions with Sanabria and Conde.

JOHN PARCELS

John, the quiet one of the campus, has established a fine academic record here at Pennington. We only wish that he found more time to do even more things in the campus family. During both his years here, John has been awarded the Sparks Scholarship for his outstanding work in his classes. We congratulate him on his uncompromising attitude in all things and his sense of fairness.

MICHAEL PEARL

Mike who has been a hard worker both in and out of classes is one of the better known boys on the campus. Another one of the boys who has switched from the status of day student to boarder, Mike has made the adjustment necessary for success in our closely organized schedule. We are sure that at least Mr. Hausmann and Mike Chapin will miss the lad next year.

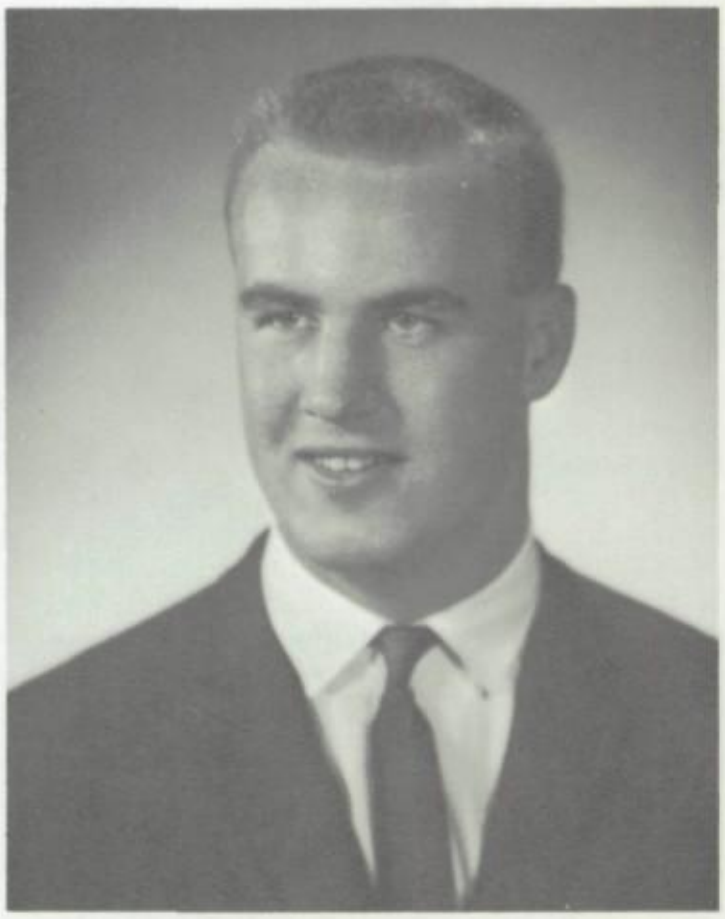
JACK PIROZZI

We on Goorley Hall are well accustomed to the native cry of Jack Pirozzi. At any time of day or night, he can be heard loudly proclaiming to all, "It just MIGHT be!." As center of the football team, Jack has employed his mass well in the thick of the battle. (He's got a lot of it to employ, too.) We wish him luck in the college of his choice for we are sure that he will succeed academicly and athletically.

JOHN REPKO

When we think of John, one thing stands out in our minds, his stomach! We are sure that he must have acquired most of his girth at home, for the food here at school could never do it to him.

Seriously, John has established a fine record here at Pennington, and we are positive that he will meet equal success in college.



CARL PRESCOTT

"Grundy," the "little dictator" of Green Hall, has become known to one and all for his innate ability to second-guess Mr. Hausmann in his math courses. As the big man on the wrestling team, he strikes fear in the hearts of the opponents, and easily conquers them. (Actually, they are laughing too hard to fight back.) We are sure that Carl will be successful at any college he attends. (Particularly if Mr. Hausmann goes with him.)

Richard Ricords

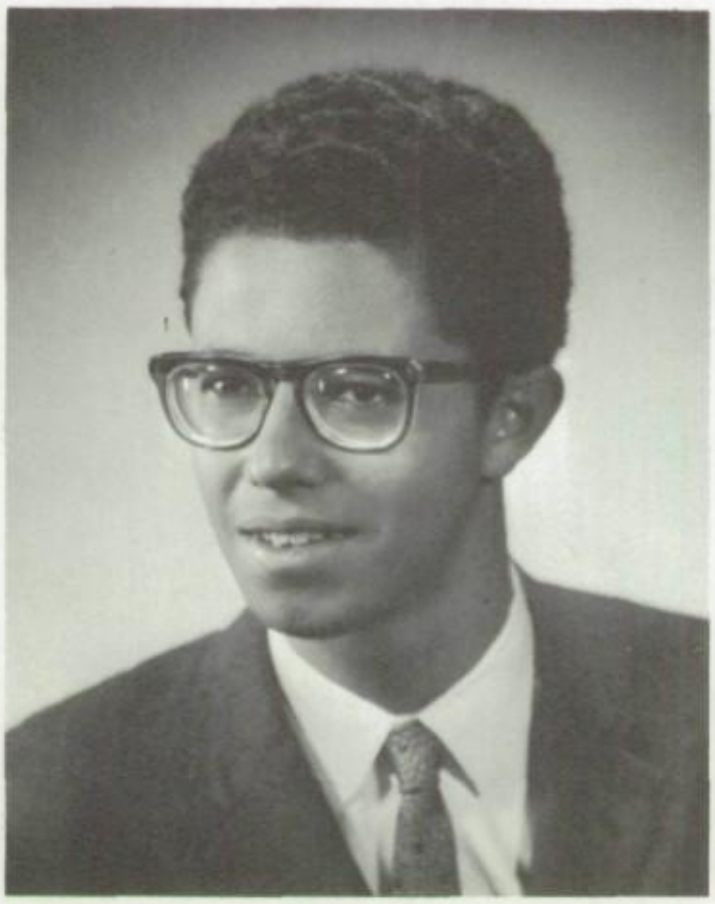
We are happy to announce that Rick has finally found a partner for life, and we are sure that he and King will be happy together during the coming years. We remember with tears (Tears of laughter) the many fond memories we have of Rick's carryings-on here at Pennington.

Rick has established a fine reputation at our Alma Mater for his prowess on the football field. (Well, he would have if he could have quit smoking.)

It is a common feeling on campus that Rick's humorous spirit will carry him far (The farther the better.)

Sergio Sanabria

Another of our Latin neighbors has left his impression on the Pennington campus. Sergio, in spite of his difficulties with our language has been a faithful member of the choir, and has been a real asset to its efforts. As a resident of little Parris island, he has been fortunate in his experiences with the D.I., and can be congratulated for his luck in staying clear of the boy with the big biceps.



David Rothschild

Dave has made a fine record here, and has won the respect and lasting friendship of many of the boys during his one year here. As an unsuspecting inmate of little Parris Island, Dave has amazed all of us with his unbreakable spirit and his stamina in the face of the punitive violence he has suffered at the hands of the tyrant of Lindbergh Hall. We feel safe in saying that after that he will be able to take anything that comes his way.

Bradley Sary

Breaking the hearts of his female admirers (namely, his mother), Brad decided to come to Pennington to study (?). All kidding aside, Brad, has done much in his short stay here and from all signs we would venture to say that he "just might get into college." Being a member of Lindberg hall, he has learned to do push-ups, if nothing else. Actually these push-ups showed in his performances with our football and basketball teams. We wish him luck, both academically and athletically, in the college of his choice.

Lee Sharlin

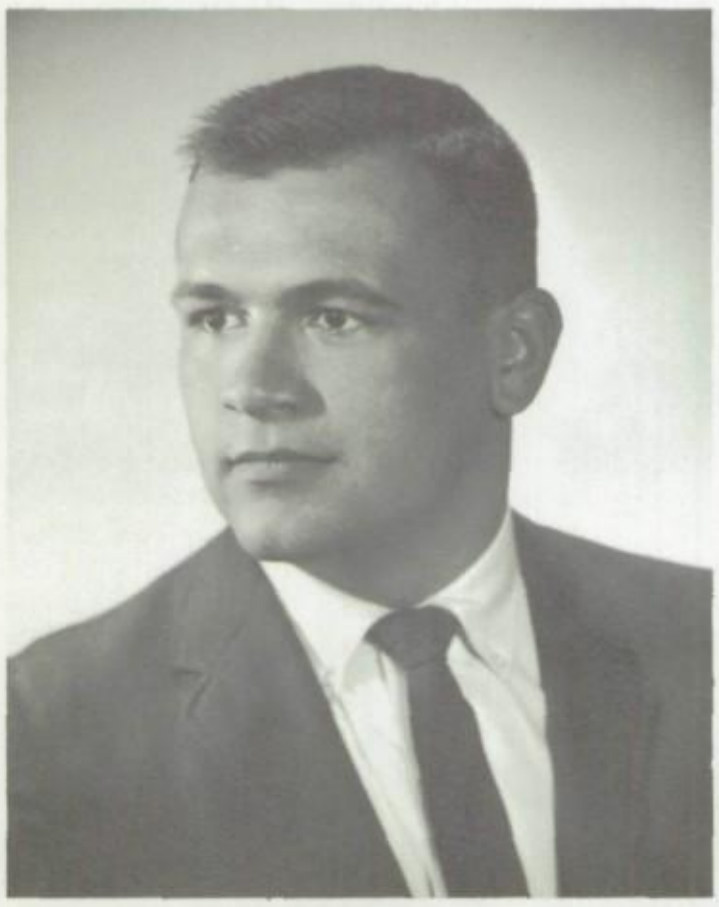
Among Lee's cultural pursuits are wine, women, and song (well, wine and song, anyway). Anyone that knows Lee will certainly remember him for his one outstanding extra-curricular activity, sleeping! A true scholar, WE are sure that he will succeed in his chosen field at the University of Miami.

Robert Smith

"Big Bob" who comes to us from Lambertville has become a true Penntonian in his four years at Pennington. He has held many school offices and has been active in sports. The swimming team certainly will miss him. We are sure Mr. Hawthorne will remember Bob for his outstanding performance in the Physics lab, if you can call it a performance. Good luck Bob!

JAMES SOLOMOS

This year Jim became almost inaccessible, for he moved to the Dean's house, where he leads a quiet (?) uninterrupted life. We have been shown that this is contributive to good scholastic work but we fear that he has been somewhat shut off from the activities of the school. We aren't sure what Jim plans to do when he graduates, but we are sure that it will be a real success. (This kind of guy can be successful doing anything.)



RICHARD SOMOGYI

Rich came to us at the middle of his Junior year, and made quite a hit with everyone here, as is evidenced by his having been elected vice-president of the senior class. We would be even more awed by his accomplishment if the election had been anything but a popularity poll. Rich, the "little minister," plans to go to Ursinus College for his studies. (That's really why he came here, but it didn't work.) Beep, beep!

STEVEN STRAUSS

Steve has two claims to fame which he established here at Pennington. First, he established a new, all-time record for driving between here and Peddie. We thought for a while that the coach would never make it. Second, he holds the thanks of all for his kind help in seeing that we didn't get too many demerits last year.

We are sure that Steve will have success in college (if it is subsidized by Pontiac) and in all his future endeavors.

Eric Stromberger

Eric, who comes to us from the wild West, is a prime example of shocking accomplishment. As "Mr. Fixit" of Goorley Hall, Eric has established himself as the electrician laureate of the school. He has a good time working on our radios and hi-fi's, and we hope he won't electrocute himself before others become aware of his fine work.

If Eric can keep up his fine record throughout college, he will be able to return to California and do his best to make it into a useful state.

Philip Sullivan

Last year, the North was invaded again by Phil Sullivan, a confirmed rebel from North Carolina. Typical of the calm pace of the South, "Rebel" is a smooth, easy-going person who enjoys serious discussion as much as a good joke.

As a lineman for the Redmen, Phil reported late for practice this year, to fill a serious gap in the football team caused by the confirmed smokers! Even with his late start, "Reb" was a definite aid to the efforts of the squad.

Although we have certainly tried, we have not been able to "Yankee-ize" the lad, as is shown in his desire to return to the "sane" atmosphere of the South for his college years. Oh well, you can't win them all!

Stefan Sztybel

Mr. Stbz--no, that's not it. Mr. Stzl--that isn't it either. Mr. Sbzt--oh, RATS! Well, anyhow, Steve has become one of the best-known, best-liked boys on campus during his three years here. This Summer, Steve decided to defect to Madison Avenue and become a Public Relations man. This is all very fine, but we hope he will learn to keep his relationships a bit more private.

We know that Steve will make a great success of his life if he ever recovers from the Christmas vacation he spent with Martin.

Eliot Terborgh

During his two years at Pennington, Eliot has climbed the social ladder to his currently high status of the god of Goorley. Eliot sits on Ceroerus with his right hand man, Mr. Liefeld, giving out justice to the citizens of the hall, with the help of Solomon Kranz. We hope that his wisdom will accompany him as god descends through the ether.

Mansour Thaneyan

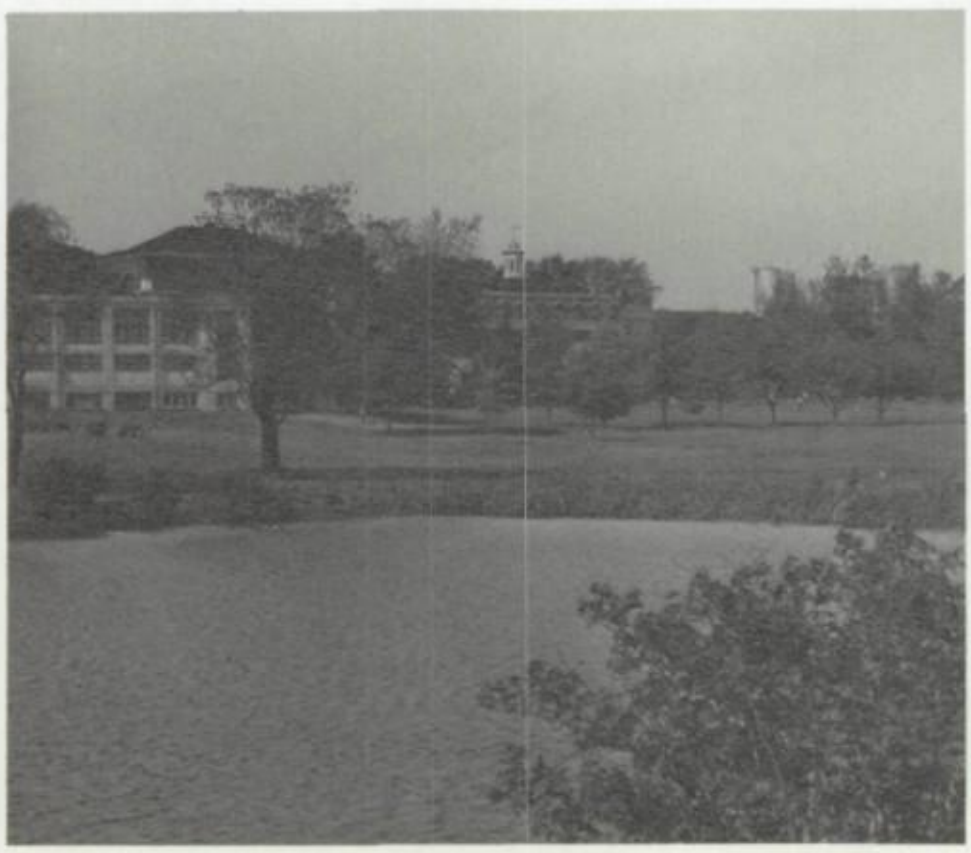
"Mickey" plays soccer in the fall, drinks tea with Heg and Haig in the winter, and daydreams of his return to Arabia (with or without Bondage) in the spring. His cousin at the Hun school plays better soccer, drinks more, but he does return to Arabia each and every June. In all seriousness, Mansour has been a true friend to all and we wish him the very best of luck in his future endeavors.

Richard Toeplitz

In his four years on the campus, "Topes" has established a record worthy of the fine reputation of the school. He has been a definite asset to the swimming team, sticking by it during the lean years. We certainly hope that his efforts will be rewarded. It has been noted to the amusement of some and the dismay of others, that Dick swims well in all things. We feel that he will be a constant source of success--to the college he attends.

Jan Van Doorn

Jan, the "Dutchman" comes to us from Pennsylvania, although no one would ever believe it. This is one student who has worked hard at many things including raising fish. He has a great many specimens. We wish this quiet, well-mannered boy luck in his plans to attend West Chester Teachers College, after he leaves his much-beloved Pennington.



Frederick Wilkins

Freddie is the type whose vocal cords can be heard vibrating all over our campus. Fred's fondest memories go back to Grace hall and are devoted to the hallmaster and his wife. Fred is a Long "Giland" boy, as we all know, and in his slightly extrovert manner, he describes himself as a handsome cute, and sharp playboy. We are sure he is more than right.

Class

We, the members of the Class of 1961, do hereby will and bequeath:

To Dr. Smyth, a television repair kit, complete with instructions.
To Dean Lawton, an Honorable Honor Society.
To Dean Brown, a year's supply of graph paper.
To Mr. Sigler, a bigger ashtray.
To Mr. Hawk, Pfeiffer College.
To Mr. Campbell, "Pinhead."
To Mr. Cressman, moustache wax.
To Mr. Dauber, Chris Adams.
To Mr. Donahue, a textbook of diction.
To Mr. Edel, his wife.
To Mr. Hausmann, a year's supply of "Metrecal."
To Mrs. Hawk, memories of Kinross.
To Mr. Hawthorn, an "e."
To Mr. Heg, another "5-day boarder."
To Mr. Johnson, a new switchbox.
To Mrs. Kazarow, a bad morning.
To Mr. Kersey, a new clerical collar.
To Mr. Liefeld, a year's supply of kitty litter.
To Dr. Lorenz, a trench.
To Mr. Morley, truth.
To Mr. Morrix, a book by Havelock Ellis.
To Coach Poore, the yearbook.
To Mr. Ramsay, a swagger stick.
To "Doc" Rarich, hair.
To Mr. Rivers, a grammar book.
To Mr. Steffy, quiet shoes.
To Mr. Westover, the fundamentals of geometry.
To Mr. Wharton, pipe cleaners.

Beizer leaves Green Hall--every night.
Boch leaves his bicycle to DaMota.
Bonacci leaves the gym windows to the day students.
Bond leaves on the 2:46 Bohemian Local to Ocean City.
Boyd leaves Kathy at the Hill House.
Boyer leaves Pfeiffer College to the Juniors.
Burch leaves his white bucks to Urion.
Cawman leaves his synopses to the Juniors.
Chapin leaves his Mother's letters to Dr. Smyth.
Clements leaves with his "hobbies."
Crowe leaves his book, "The Man and the Meter Stick" to next year's Green Hall residents.
D'Arago leaves another test to Mr. Hawthorn.

Will

DeFranco leaves Pirozzi to clean up the room.
Douglass leaves a carton of "Luckies" to Dean Brown.
Downs leaves as soon as possible.
Duthie leaves Mr. Brown to himself.
Engle leaves on the last bus out.
Gaylon leaves his shin-guards to the future residents of Lindberg Hall.
Greening leaves--again.
Harris leaves for Princeton.
Hoffberger leaves good relations at the Dutch Treat.
Holt leaves a broken line sled to Mr. Ramsay.
Krantz leaves courage to Buffer.
Kranz leaves the Liefelds--talking.
Lamont leaves his non-prejudice to the K.K.K.
Larner leaves to meet Ellen.
Maguire leaves "her" children on Green.
Martin leaves the kitchen to its next victim and the yearbook in utter confusion.
Mather leaves his membership in the B.O.A.C. to Meckler.
Mellen leaves his bicycle to Leland.
Moody leaves Hausmann a new red sweatsuit.
Olson leaves Mr. Heg a box of pretzels.
Oxford leaves the soccer team disorganized, as usual.
Parcels leaves his room--occasionally.
Pearl leaves his fur hat to Fogel.
Pirozzi leaves for the World Series.
Prescott leaves Green Hall to the next fool to take it.
Repko leaves the newspaper to some other sucker.
Ricords leaves with Boyer.
Rothschild leaves his smile to anyone who needs brownie points.
Sary leaves to take a bath.
Sharlin leaves to take a nap.
Smith leaves his artistic ability to Hausmann, so he can decorate the pool.
Solomos leaves his brother to Dean Lawton.
Somogyi leaves his wonderful personality and good looks to another modest being.
Strauss leaves the demerits he took last year.
Stromberger leaves for California.
Sullivan leaves "the bar" to the future residents of Goorley 306.
Sztybel leaves--
Terborgh leaves his "revolutionaries" to the colleges who are willing to suffer.
Thaneyan leaves for Saudi Arabia, with Bond.
Toeplitz leaves his "No-Doz" pills to future students of world affairs.
VanDoorn leaves Boyer completely defeated.
Wilkens leaves Mr. Johnson a pair of roller skates.

Juniors

This year's Junior Class will be remembered for its athletic abilities, if for nothing else. Its members have composed the better portions of the wrestling, J.V. soccer, football, and basketball teams. If these boys continue their interest in sports, next year's teams can but bring victory and honor to the halls of Pennington.

The intelligence of the members of the class has distinguished them in their classes, and will continue to do so next year when the studies become a real test of their abilities and perseverance.

After the class had settled into the routine of the school, and its members had become acquainted with one another, they met and elected their officers for the year. Bill Wilson is President, Chris Adams, Vice-President, Jack Mohrman, and Pete Gold, Secretary.

The class representatives to the Student Council are Allen Granetz, Arnie Taub, and Bob Carrol.

We feel that with the well-rounded abilities of the members of the class, there is little that can stand in our way to the successful completion of our educational endeavors.

Sophomores

The Sophomore class of the Pennington School, contains 41 students. With Mr. Morley as class advisor, the class met and elected the following officers: John Dudley, President; Bill McCaw, Vice President; Wayne Smith, Secretary; and Steve Fox, Treasurer. The representative to the Student Council is Alan Meckler. He is very active in presenting our views.

Most of the J.V. Soccer team this year was made up of Sophomores, and some of the boys played J.V. Football.

The Sophomore Class is happy to have two foreign students; Ralph Schlosser, who comes from Venezuela and Victor Tamayo, who comes from Ecuador.

Over half of the Sophomore Class is made up of returning students. We hope that all the students of the Sophomore Class will return to complete their education at Pennington.

The Sophomores, this year, have been successful and we think they will make a good Junior class.

Our best of luck to the class of '63.

Freshmen

The freshman class, under the guidance of Mr. Johnson, have made what we feel is a fine adjustment to the rigors of boarding school life this year. There are several outstanding boys in the class, the type which have given Pennington the reputation she deserves. All the boys have been valuable to the school in one way or another, whether it was in the classrooms, on the athletic fields or elsewhere. Our only hope is that we may return to Pennington for the completion of our educations.

Lower School

In a school such as this, adjustment to responsible independence cannot be stressed too early in the student's life. In the Lodge, the boys of the Lower School are given the individual counseling they need along with a degree of independence, channeled to the cultivation of their maturity.

Their classwork is closely supervised, as is their study time, assuring careful and accurate preparation of their studies. If they do not gain the best study habits now, they are not likely to do so later in their career.

Although the main objective of the school is learning, its sports program is a healthy diversion from the rigorous schedule of classes. In the Lower School, the boys compete with other school groups of their own age. Many young athletes have developed skill and experience this year, both in sports and sportsmanship.

This year has been a rewarding one for all of the boys, as will be the following years here at Pennington.

Post Graduates

This year, the Post Graduates were moved from Grace to Lindbergh Hall, because of the large group who were worthy of the facilities of Pennington. They have been a source of both joy and sorrow to the Administration. The majority of the boys, though, are gentlemen in the true sense of the word, and will go far in the future.

There are as many reasons for their attendance as there are P.G.'s. Most of them are here because of poor study habits or because of the lack of ability of their home schools to prepare them for the colleges of their choices. We hope that while they were here, they made the best of their time, and are now sufficiently prepared to continue their education.

Louis Conde, Samuel Shaumba, Phuchong Kawthatham

Special Students

This year, the halls of Pennington have been graced by the presence of three special students. These boys, who have no classification, are nonetheless an integral part of our school. Coming from the Congo, Thailand, and Cuba, these boys represent a wide horizon of experience and knowledge. All of them have won our respect and admiration here at Pennington, and we are sure that others they meet here in the U.S. will feel the same.

Agassiz Club

The Agassiz Club, founded in 1930, has become a large organization of 23 members. It is a club devoted to science and encourages scientific endeavor and research in its members. Mr. Hawthorn, the faculty advisor, runs the group as he would a classroom, thus eliminating anyone not genuinely interested in the activities.

The majority of its members plan to go on in the study of science, with a career as their final goal. The activities and field trips of the club are geared to meet the interests of this type of boy, although they are of interest and educational value to anyone.

The boys who showed an interest in the organization this year were: Sam Mather, Pres., John Parcels, V.P., Arnie Prince, Treas., Bill Wilson, Sec., Allan Meckler, Bob Carrol, Richard, Hughes, Robert Wesley Smith, Arnie Taub, Chris Adams, Tom Stoll, George Cawman, Glen Cranker, Steve Fox, Jim Williams, Joe McCormick, Alvin Harm, Charles Rainear, Steve Gaylon, Bill McCaw, Jim Miller, John Bodnar, and John Herbert.

The Lowell Society

The Lowell Society, one of the oldest institutions in the school, is dedicated to the study and discussion of the great books of the world. Thus, it serves as not only a source of enjoyment, but also one of learning and culture. It provides an excellent method of becoming aware of the value of books.

Under the guidance of Mr. Rivers, the members have met regularly to discuss the books they have read, and all have grown in their literary scope. This should prove a definite aid to them in the future.

Through the year, the study of literature is supplemented by field trips to various cultural centers in this area. Usually, the major trip is to New York.

Penseman

We, the Penseman staff of 1961, have planned this yearbook as a momento of our senior year at Pennington. We hope that future classes may benefit by our mistakes and our examples.

We would like to express our gratitude to our advisor, Mr. Heg, who has given much of his valuable time to the improvement of this yearbook.

Samuel Mather and Mac Martin have acted as co-editors of the 1961 Penseman, and they have done a fine job. We also recognize the work of Jack Puglisi as photography editor and Larry Krantz as the business manager.

The Penseman staff expresses its gratitude to all faculty members and students who have helped in any way. Your work is very much appreciated.

Penntonian

The Penntonian

Under the watchful eyes of John Repko, Mr. Liefeld, and Amigo, the newspaper has improved greatly this year. Published monthly, The Penntonian is an indispensable part of campus life. One of the finest features, the editor's column, is a wholesome part of the paper, usually containing some page advice for all.

This year two innovations have been added to The Penntonian. For the first time in its history, a copy of the paper is mailed to each parent, keeping them abreast of developments and activities often unmentioned in their sons' letters. Also, the paper has been made larger, through the use of five columns instead of three.

In the years to come, it will be a real challenge to the future editors to equal this year's effort.

National Honor Society

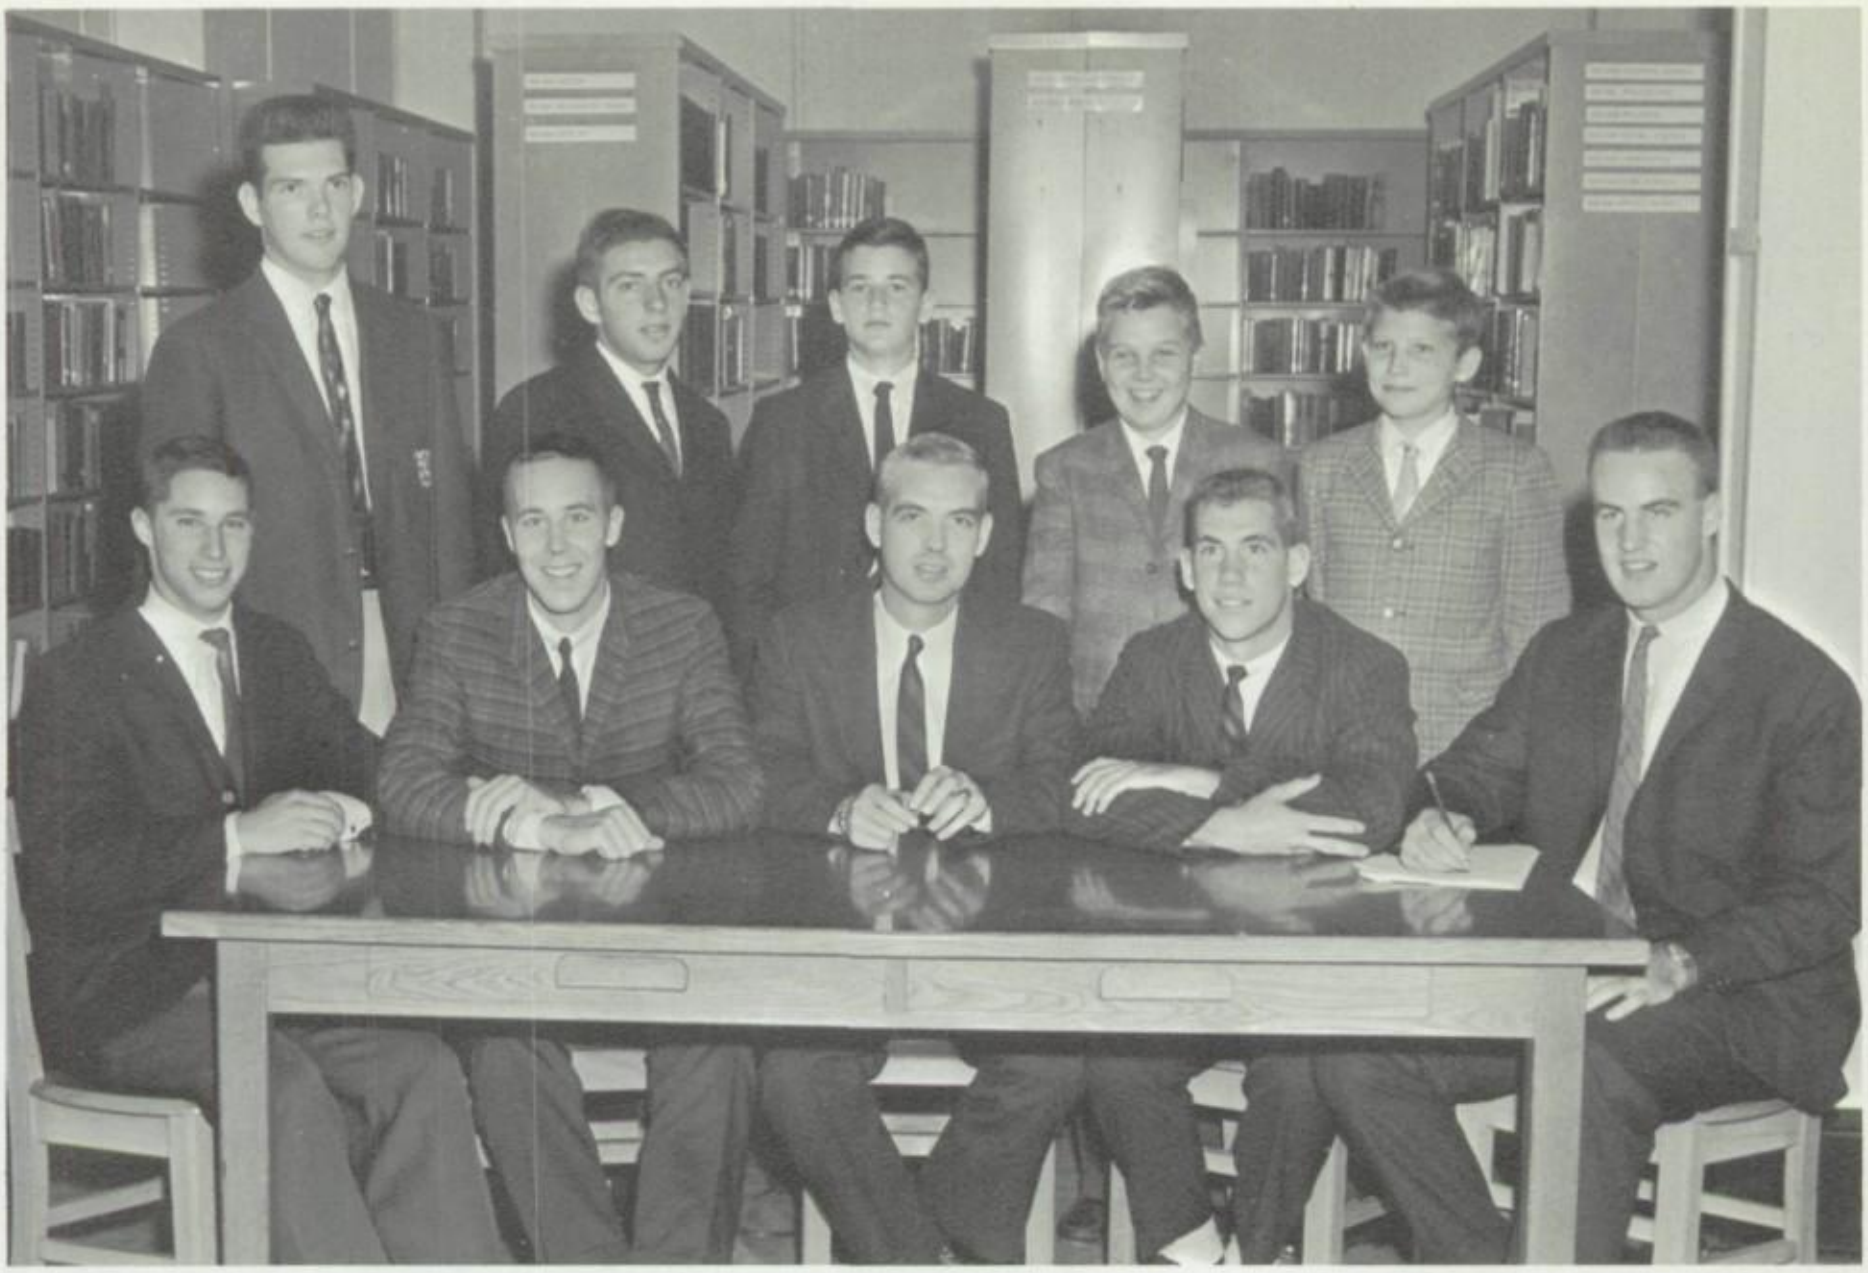
The Pennington School received its charter as a member of the National Honor Society on December 22, 1950. Our chapter has been named the Tri-Steps Chapter.

The Honor Society has four main goals. They are the building of character, the attainment of scholastic success, the acquisition of the qualities of leadership, and the recognition of service, to fellow students and to the school itself.

The Tri-Steps Chapter includes grades ten, eleven, and twelve. Before being received, members are judged on their achievements in the four fields mentioned above. It is possible for any student to become a member of the Society regardless of the number of years he has been a student at Pennington.

The present members of the National Honor Society are: Eliot Terborgh, Pres., Carl Prescott, Vice Pres., John Parcels, Sec., Chris Adams, Treas., John Repko, Peter Gold, Alan Granetz, William Wilson, Arnold Taub, and James Glauner.

C. Adams, C. Prescott, Dean Lawton, E. Terborgh, J. Parcels, A. Granetz, A. Taub, J. Glauner, W. Wilson, J. Repko, P. Gold.



A. Granetz, E. Terborgh, Dean Brown, D. Duthie, C. Prescott, R. Carroll, A. Taub, A. Meckler, G. Cranker, D. Chambers.

Student Council

This year the Student Council has come into its own as a vital part of the school's program. Under the guidance of Dean Brown, the Council has set an example for their fellow students, both in and out of classes. They have taken a regular column in the newspaper, and use it well, informing the student body of their plans, hopes and ideas for the future.

Since the Council has spent several years as little more than an ineffective titular organization, its main task this year is building a foundation of usefulness for future councils to follow. This will be no easy task, but the boys are the best that the student body has to offer, and we are sure that they will meet their responsibility well.

S. Renshon, H. Boyer, R. Bond, J. Repko, A. Hoffberger, S. Sztybel, J. Miller, M. Martin.

Debating Society

Pi Delta Sigma is in its second year at the Pennington School. The Society has come into its own here at The Pennington School under the able leadership of the person who was primarily responsible for its founding, Richard Bond. We wish the Debating Society the best of luck in succeeding years.

Senior Prom

Mr. Liefeld, Amigo S. Sztybel, E. Terborgh, H. King, S. Shaumba, M. Martin.

Library Council

The library is under a new regime this year. When Mr. Liefeld came to the School in September, he immediately made the library a place of value it had not been before. Soon after he had established a proper respect in the students for the library and its books, he set out to make the library truly a place for the students. Thus did the Library Council arise. Certain of the seniors were invited to manage the library for one night a week. Most of the boys are earnest students, and will not let such duties detract from their studies.

The members of the council have full disciplinary powers, and so, were chosen on the basis of their sense of fairness, maturity and temperament. We are sure that this system has worked well, and that it will someday be one of the most envied honors in the school.

Choir

One of the most influential organizations of the Pennington School is the Chapel Choir, under the able leadership of William O. Rarich. This is one of the most active groups on campus, for it participates in the weekly chapel services on Sunday. The Choir also presents various Musical Vespers, the most impressive being the Christmas Candlelight Service on the night before Christmas vacation.

This year the school awarded recognitions to a number of the boys who have actively participated in the organization for two years. They were: Mac Burns Martin, John Repko, Richard Bond, Arnold Taub, Steve Sztybel, and George Schnitger.

During the year, the Choir participated in the Methodist Dollars for Christ fund drive by singing at the various district rallies throughout the state. Also, the Choir sang at the Pennington Methodist Church on their annual Pennington School Day.

The officers this year are Randy Holt, Dean; Mac Burns Martin, Sub-Dean; and Richard Bond, Librarian. John Repko, Music Secretary to "Doc" Rarich for both Choir and Glee Club.

Glee Club and Quartet

Under the leadership of William "Doc" Rarich, the Glee Club has improved a great deal in the last few years. This year, the students showed an added interest which helped it to be one of the finest the school has ever seen. As in years previous, the presentation has been very formal, but with the cooperation of members a less formal form of musicale was presented. Perhaps the two most memorable performances given by the Glee Club were the Christmas Candlelight Service and the annual Mid-Year Musicale. The Christmas service was combined with the choir to give a richer and more enjoyable program.

The Glee Club has gained the respect which it duly deserves. The main objective of this club is to give vocal performances which would enlighten and enrich the student body. With the combined efforts of "Doc" and his club, they tried to meet this objective. We think they have done just that, and possibly even more.

The most select group on campus, the Quartet, is one of which our school can be proud. Singing in close harmony, they have added an invaluable extra point of interest to our musical programs. If there are those who feel that the Quartet is something just a little special, they certainly have ample justification for their opinion.

For the first time in five years Pennington's Red Raiders finished their season with a winning record.

Opening the season against Hun School, the prepsters made a very impressionable showing by shutting out the Black Raiders in a 26 to 0 contest at home grounds. On the second week of the season the Redmen traveled to Germantown, Pennsylvania to meet Germantown Friends. After Paul DeFranco's opening play touchdown, the team became overfilled with confidence. Leading at halftime 14 to 0, the Raiders' overconfidence felled them in the second half as they lost the game in the last seven seconds 16 to 14. Wyoming Seminary was the next stop for the marching Redmen team as they traveled to Wyoming Seminary to meet the Blue Knights. Playing a more conservative game, the Raiders wound up on top in the scoring colume 19 to 14 giving them a 2 and 1 record. The following week, however, the team came home and were greeted by a strong and powerful team from Bryn Athyn. The Redmen were so outclassed that they suffered their only shutout of the season 28 to 0. Homecoming Day was the next contest as a large crowd turned out to see the supurb passing of senior quarterback Dave Duthie combined with the excellent running of Paul DeFranco bring the Raiders home a 38 to 0 shutout victory over the Solebury School. Senior linemen Randy Holt, Carl Prescott and Phil

Sullivan did a fine job in holding back the opponents offense in this the Raider's second shutout of the season. George School was the Raiders sixth opponent. Played at Newtown, Pennsylvania, the Raiders made their second best showing of the year. Trailing through most of the contest, the Redmen came up with the all important point-after-touchdown when they needed it, to defeat the home ball club 22 to 20. The final game for the Raiders was a home contest against an undefeated Pingry ball club from Newark, New Jersey. The Raiders did their best to break the visitors winning streak but failed as they lost with a 14 to 6 score.

Even though ending with a 4 and 3 log for the season does not look to impressionable, it was a great improvement over the past several years.

The team was ably coached by head coach Harold Poore and his assistants Peter Ramsay and David Rivers.

At the beginning of the season lineman Randy Holt and quarterback Dave Duthie were elected by the team as co-captains.

Picking out the outstanding players on the team would be a rather difficult task. We must however recognize the fine passing of Dave Duthie together with the outstanding running of Paul DeFranco who averaged 9.7 yards per carry in making the Raider offense so effective. On defense Randy Holt must be picked out as the team's outstanding lineman. A member of the varsity squad for three years, Randy has become known as "The Mangler" in football circles.

Summing up the season, we can say truthfully that the team made a profitable impression for both the school and its students. It is hoped that next year's team will have a profitable season and we wish them the best of luck

VARSITY SOCCER

The 1960 Varsity Soccer team captained by Sam Mather and Ed Oxford was hard hit by injuries and managed to win one game while losing four and tying four.

The team was ably coached by Lyle Hawthorn, who built a team around Sam Mather the only returning letterman on the team. The team consisted of Tamyo, Gold, Shaumba, Oxford, and Thaneyan on the front line. Boyd, Mather, and Floom comprised the halfbacks. Mohrman and Taub were fullbacks and Fred Smyth was in the goal.

The Raiders' only win came against George School, via a 3 to 1 score. Goals were scored by Victor Tamyo, Peter Gold and Monseur Thaneyan. The George booters robed a Raider shutout with less than 1 minute left in the contest.

With most of the varsity lettermen returning, Coach Lyle Hawthorn can look forward to a prosperous season next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

So far this year, "The Red Raiders" have accomplished a winning record of 5 wins and 3 loses.

The top men for the raiders this year are Sam Mather, George Cawman, Jim Boyd, Ron Crowe, and Steve Fox.

The team started out by winning three games in a row, by defeating Pennington Central, Morrestown Friends, and Croydon Hall in successive contests. The next game put the Redmen up against a strong opponent in The Peddie School. Our boys put up a good fight for the first three quarters but fell in the last period of play. George School was the next victim for the raiders as they defeated the Pennsylvainians by a 46 to 33 score. Pennington's greatest victory so far this year was against Bryn Athyn in a 78 to 46 slaughter. The Raiders last two games have been marks in the loss column as they were defeated by Lawrenceville and Pingry Schools.

With just eight games being played, the Redmen still have over half a season left in twelve games. In these contests they will be playing, Hun School, Solebury, Delbarton, Rutgurs Prep, Admiral Farragut, and Germantown Friends. We wish the Raiders the best of luck in the continuance of a winning season.

Wrestling

The wrestling team, coached by Mr. Rivers, started the season the hard way, going up against their toughest opponents first; Admiral Farragut Academy. There was a forfeit of only one weight class. The eleven boys who did wrestle, however, did their best but had to admit to defeat in the end. The boys show the qualities of a great wrestling team. Recognition has to be given to Fred Smyth who has been State champ for two years. The team captains, Carl "Grundy" Prescott and Robert "Snuffy" Smith, have the complete assistance from their teammates, T. Hughes, A. Merrion, J. Puglisi, F. Smyth, J. Glauner, P. Doblin, E. Oxford, and B. Corwin.

The school can expect the team to come through with a few victories this year, and the yearbook staff wishes them the best of luck.

Left to Right: Mr. Hausmann, Wm. Howe, P. Sullivan, W. Smith, R. Burns, H. Floom, R. Harris, S. Smith, R. Yagoda, R. Toeplitz, J. Lawrence, R. Hughes, Wm. Moody, R.W. Smith.

Swimming

Under the fine coaching of Mr. Paul Hausman and his assistant Billy Howe the Pennington mermen are looking forward to a prosperous season.

With five lettermen returning, Bob Harris, Dick Toeplitz, Harlan Floom, Bill Moody and Bob Smith the redmen boast quite a bit of experience. This experience matched with newcomers Jeff Lewis, Bob Burns, Dick Hughes, Jim Lawrence, and Lee Sharlin should make the teams record a more respectable one than in past years.

With still a full season ahead of them we wish these men the best of luck for a winning record for the year.
